

Indonesian Journal of Agriculture is published as a media to promote internationally agricultural research findings of Indonesian Agency for Agricultural Research and Development (IAARD). This journal is published in one volume of two issues per year by the IAARD. It is also available on-line at: <http://www.pustaka-deptan.go.id>.

The journal publishes primary research articles that have been published in IAARD publications and makes a significant original contribution to the experimental or theoretical understanding of some aspects of agricultural science in Indonesia. The definition of agricultural science is kept as wide as possible to allow the broadest coverage in the journal.
